We are Positive Action for Christ, a nonprofit publishing ministry that exists to help teachers magnify the majesty of God.

We produce Bible studies that are . . .

- God-Focused. We write studies to magnify His character and work. In each passage of Scripture, students should first see how God reveals Himself.
- Biblically Grounded. Our books should give students an engaging companion to Scripture, with notes on context, culture, language, and application. By studying the Bible for themselves, students can nurture a deep relationship with its Author.
- Teacher-Driven. We believe that God disciples His children through face-to-face contact with teachers like you. Therefore, we publish resources that can strengthen your unique class curriculum.

Thanks to the feedback and support of teachers around the world, this nonprofit, independent ministry has thrived for 50 years. We hope to keep our material accountable to God and to you, and we trust Him to use us all to introduce His grace to many students in the years to come.

LESSON 14

The Arrival of the Holy Spirit

Scripture Memory – John 14:15

For the Teacher

This lesson presents Christ's promise of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost, and a few passages about the Holy Spirit. Students will discuss historical and contemporary applications of the Holy Spirit's power.

For the suggested Character Trait Activity, prepare a small envelope or note card for each student.

Content Objectives

14-A Before Jesus ascended, He promised to help the disciples.

14-B The Holy Spirit marked His disciples with power and purpose.

14-C The Holy Spirit works through the church.

Learning Objectives

Students should be able to ...

- Explain the instructions Jesus gave the disciples.
- Describe the events of Pentecost.
- Recall the signs that accompanied the Holy Spirit's coming.
- List several behaviors that mark the presence of the Holy Spirit.

Vocabulary

Walking on Water

Consider reviewing Matthew 14:22–33 together as a group. Ask students how the disciples may have felt at each stage of the narrative.

Session 6-C Jesus Teaches Faith

Discuss: What is faith? Note Hebrews 11:1.

Faith
A belief and trust in something we cannot prove

Explain: We can prove many things through science and careful logic.

- For example, if we wanted to prove whether a chair could hold us up, we can conduct an experiment by sitting on the chair. We could even bounce up and down to make sure it's sturdy. The chair might get damaged and break one day, but for now, it can hold someone.
- Likewise, we can prove that two plus three equals five simply by counting. We don't even need to experiment—that's just how our math works.

But there are places that science and logic cannot reach. There are questions that cannot be answered with experiments or arguments.

Read Hebrews 11:3. We cannot prove that the whole universe came from God, but we can believe it through faith. We read His Word and trust Him.

Explain: It's easier to believe God when things seem to go well. But during difficult times, our fears and doubts rise up and test our faith. Jesus' disciples had many times like these.

Prompt: Complete the exercises in section 6-C of your Student Manual.

Consider giving students time to create their own Building Your Life Castle.

They will analyze passages of Scripture that describe God's work through His church—while also sampling the writings of notable Christian figures.

This thirteen-lesson, self-guided study can supplement Bible, history, literature, and worldview courses. Recommended for students with a tenth-grade reading level or above.

SERMON ON THE MOUNT

A Study of Matthew 5-7

LESSONS

Sermon on the Mount

A Study of Matthew 5–7

One day, on a hillside in Galilee, Jesus explained how citizens of God's kingdom would live. This study walks verse by verse through Matthew 5–7, examining simple principles that can overturn the way students view faith, prayer, and religious duty. In these passages, the Author of Scripture unlocks mysteries of the Old Testament and opens a door to the New.
